Headteacher's Message

Dear Parents/Carers

This week has been both busy and productive. On Monday, the children attended an assembly with Mr. Stoughton, our technician, who spoke about his role in keeping them safe at school. The children asked thoughtful questions, leading to an interesting discussion. Thursday was World Book Day, and we welcomed a visiting author. Our class costume winners have been featured on our Instagram page for you to view. This week marks the start of British Science Week, with this year's theme being Adapt and Change. The children will take part in a range of activities related to this theme. We had planned for Chicks of Brum to deliver a chick-hatching unit this week, but as the chicks aren't quite ready, this will now take place the following week.

Kind regards,

Ayshen Wilson
Headteacher

CLASSROOM SPOTLIGHT—Red Oak Class

Red Oak have been really looking forward to World Book Day! We had some fantastic costumes this year and congratulations to Amarra for winning this year's best costume. The children were very fortunate to have had a workshop with the author John O'Leary who specialises in pop up books. They got to create a page for their own pop up book using the techniques learnt in the workshop.
